Industrial Safety, Environmental and Occupational Hygiene

PRODATA ENERGY is committed to excellence in safety performance. We strive for continuous improvement in safety performance and require that industry standards and legislative requirements are met. Our employees and contractors support the successful implementation of this philosophy. PRODATA ENERGY is observant of ISEOH by implementing the highest standards of occupational health and safety for our employees, customers and contractors, as well as protecting the surrounding environment.

Maintaining high international standards in safety and environmental conservation to ensure human life, and the flora and fauna of our environment in performing our daily operational activities is our top priority objective, besides being an added value. Our corporation's vital and strategic commitment to faithful compliance is embodied in our continuous improvement policies in industrial safety, occupational health and environmental conservation that succeed in minimizing the risks associated with our operations.

PRODATA ENERGY will continue to prioritize its policies, the prevention of occupational risks and environmental damage by rigorously applying preventive management in all our activities throughout their planning, organization and coordination, as well as the prompt supervision of preventive safety observations, risk analysis, inspections and audits within the framework of safe and reliable actions that benefit the welfare of our employees and the environment.
