

Quality

Operational excellence requires constant attention to countless details in the work processes. Identifying problems quickly and systematically has provided us with a continuous improvement methodology that sets us on the path to a zero-defect culture.

Throughout these 50 years PRODATA ENERGY has created systems that support a culture of superior performance: "We are passionate about Excellence".

From this statement stems our "Operational Excellence", reflected in everything we do, considering that, by complying with our operational processes, we are bound to succeed.

Our workforce is genuinely based on the theory that incidents are preventable and relies on policies, processes, tools and behavioral expectations to help us achieve that goal. Our vision is to be a leading incident-free company in Venezuela that provides a reliable service with the promise and firm position to generate absolute confidence in our customers, meet their requirements and provide an immediate solution.
